4. Complainant was discharged on November 8, 2016.

Complainant's Allegations-Count A:

Complainant alleges that on October 31, 2016, she was subjected to harassment based on her race, black. Complainant maintains that Respondent was aware of her race. Complainant maintains that the harassment consisted of an incident that took place on October 31, 2016, in which Elizabeth Marr ("Marr") (non-black), Scheduler, said "Fuck you. You black nigger bitch," as well as Marr having used the term "those people" to refer to black employees on several occasions. Complainant alleges that she informed Gamble of the racial comments by Marr but nothing was done about the harassment. Complainant stated that the harassment created a hostile, intimidating, and uncomfortable work environment which interfered with her ability to perform her job duties.

Respondent's Defenses-Count A:

Respondent denies that it subjected Complainant to harassment or otherwise subjected her to any adverse action due to her race. Respondent admits that Complainant's race is black. Respondent denies Complainant's characterizations of events that she indicates constituted harassment. Respondent denies that Complainant was subjected to a hostile, intimidating, and uncomfortable work environment which interfered with her ability to perform her job duties.

Investigation Summary-Count A:

A. Complainant's Evidence.

1. Complainant stated that she was hired to hire and train staff, ensure operations between the Chicago and California offices went smoothly, and make sure the office was adequately supplied and running smoothly.
2. Complainant stated that there were three employees in the Chicago office: Marr, Miriam Flores (non-black), Administrative Assistant, and Nick LNU (non-black), Administrator. Complainant stated that there had been problems in the office between Marr and Flores before she was hired, and it was one of the reasons that she was hired according to Gamble. Complainant stated that there was confusion about her role because she was told by Gamble that she was to oversee the three-office staff but the staff did not think that she was their boss.

Charge No.: 2017CF1417

3. Complainant stated that on October 31, 2016, a man came to the office to be considered for a job as a scheduler. Complainant stated that she had met him elsewhere and told him to come in to the office. Complainant stated that she asked Marr if she could interview the man, but Marr said that she was too busy. Complainant stated that she told Marr that she could take time to interview the man as her other duties were okay right then. Complainant stated that she left the man with Marr, but he came to her upset and told her that Marr threw him out of her office. Complainant stated that she went to Marr who had an attitude and said that she did not have time to interview the man. Complainant stated that she told Marr that she did have time, and she sent the candidate back in.
4. Complainant stated that Chomentowska called her and said that Marr was going to do the hiring. Complainant stated that she asked Chomentowska what had changed since she was hired to do human resources which means she is to hire employees.
5. Complainant stated that she knew Marr did not want to interview the man because she had a friend that she wanted to hire. Complainant stated that she let Marr hire a friend previously. Complainant stated that she asked Marr why she was not interviewing the man and told her that she was not hiring another one of her friends again. Complainant stated that Marr mumbled "Fuck you. You black nigger bitch". Complainant stated that she asked Marr what she said, and Marr did not respond. Complainant stated that she told Marr that "At the end of the day this is my office".
6. Complainant stated that she called Gamble and told her what happened and that she did not understand what was going on with hiring as she should have input. Complainant stated that she asked Gamble what had changed because it seemed like her staff was not being told that she was their boss. Complainant stated that she told Gamble that Marr had called her out of her name and called her a black nigger bitch. Complainant stated that Gamble said that she would talk to Chomentowska to find out what was going on. Complainant stated that when she hung up with Gamble she thought she was looking into Marr's racial comment and the hiring situation. Complainant stated that she never heard back about any of this.
7. Complainant stated that Marr had referred to black employees as "these people" on several occasions. Complainant stated that Marr would say "These people shouldn't be working here if they can't do their job," referring to drivers who were predominantly black. Complainant stated that she told Marr several times to stop using "these people" as a phrase as it is offensive. Complainant stated that at some point she told Gamble about these comments made by Marr, and Gamble told her that it was Complainant's office and she needed to "get it together." Complainant did not indicate the date or approximate date on which she told Gamble of the offensive comments.
8. "Confidential Witness A" or "CWA" is an employee or former employee of Respondent named during the investigation who declined to be identified by name. stated that Complainant told them that Marr called her a "black nigger bitch." CWA stated that Complainant and Gamble were close, and it is likely that Complainant told Gamble of anything that Marr had said. CWA stated that Marr did say “these people are animals” referring to the drivers, who were mostly black and Hispanic.

B. Respondent’s Evidence.

1. Respondent’s Equal Employment Opportunity policy (Exhibit C) indicates that equal employment opportunity is “a fundamental principle of the company and employment is based on personal capabilities and qualification without discrimination because of race.” Respondent’s Harassment/Sexual harassment policy also prohibits unlawful harassment based on an individual’s race and encourages employees to report acts of harassment.
2. Gamble stated that Complainant never reported any kind of harassment. Gamble stated that she and Complainant had discussions about disagreements at the office with Marr but Complainant never said that Marr made racial comments. Gamble stated that Complainant never said that Marr called her a “black nigger bitch” nor did Complainant report any comments to the effect of “those people.”
3. Gamble stated that on October 31, 2016, Complainant called her, but the call was more about staffing than about Marr. Gamble stated that Complainant was upset because she felt that she did not have permission to handle staffing. Gamble stated that Complainant did say that she and Marr had an issue but did not say that Marr made any racial comment, for if she had, she (Gamble) would have immediately addressed it. Gamble stated that after the call with Complainant on October 31, 2016, there was nothing that she felt needed to be investigated, and she told Complainant to meet with Marr about working as a team. Gamble stated that had there been anything from Complainant about any racial comments she certainly would not have merely advised Complainant to meet with Marr about working as a team.
4. Marr stated that on October 31, 2016, she was very busy working on an audit of attendance along with responding to phone calls and emails. Marr stated that she had until five o’clock to finish the audit. Marr stated that Complainant walked in with a man and said “Here you go. This guy is here for an interview”. Marr stated that she told the man that she was sorry, but she did not have time, and she would call him. Marr stated that Complainant came back in and sat down by her and said “This is my office. I can do what I want. I can hire who I want”. Marr stated that she did not say anything and Complainant went out. Marr stated that she did not say “Fuck you. You black nigger bitch” or anything remotely to that effect. Marr stated that she never used the words “those people” to refer to any category of people.
5. Marr stated that she never harassed Complainant.

C. Complainant’s Rebuttal.

1. Complainant stated that she may not have said that she was harassed, but she did tell Gamble what Marr said.

Charge No.: 2017CF1417

Analysis:

The Department's investigation did not reveal that Respondent subjected Complainant to race-based harassment. The investigation did not reveal that Respondent subjected Complainant to a race-based, hostile work environment. Complainant maintains that the race-based harassment consisted of a singular incident, the alleged October 31, 2016, incident, in which Marr allegedly called Complainant the incendiary and racist term, "nigger," and that on other unspecified occasions Marr used the words "those people" to describe black employees. Respondent's Harassment/Sexual harassment policy prohibits unlawful harassment based on an individual's race and encourages employees to report acts of harassment. Complainant's allegations of harassment do not rise to a level to support an allegation of actionable harassment, as the alleged incidents were isolated and only one incident was alleged to specify Complainant's race through a racial slur. There is no evidence that even if the "those people" comments were made that they were intended to single out black individuals as opposed to drivers generally, many of whom were non-black.

Findings and Conclusion-Count A:

A finding of Lack of Substantial Evidence is recommended because:

The evidence shows that Complainant's allegations of race-based harassment were insufficient to establish actionable harassment. The investigation did not reveal that Complainant was subjected to a pattern of harassment or hostile work environment because of her race. There is no evidence that Respondent's officials subjected Complainant to race-based harassment or were aware that Complainant was being subjected to race-based harassment. There is no substantial evidence that Respondent harassed Complainant based on her race.

Complainant's Allegations-Counts B and C:

Complainant alleges that on November 8, 2016, she was discharged because of her race, black (Count B) and in retaliation for reporting racial harassment (Count C). Complainant maintains that Respondent was aware of her race and protected activity of reporting race discrimination. Complainant maintains that her job performance was satisfactory. Complainant maintains that on November 8, 2016, she was discharged. Complainant maintains that non-black individuals and those not known to have participated in a protected activity were treated more favorably under similar circumstances. Complainant maintains that the discharge followed her participation in a protected activity within such a period of time as to raise an inference of retaliatory motivation.

Respondent's Defenses-Counts B and C:

Respondent's articulated legitimate non-discriminatory reason for Complainant's discharge is that she created a hostile work environment. Respondent admits that Complainant's race is black and denies that she engaged in a protected activity during her employment. Respondent denies that Complainant was discharged because of her race or in retaliation for a protected activity of reporting racial harassment. Respondent denies that Complainant reported racial harassment. Respondent denies that Complainant's job performance was satisfactory. Respondent admits that Complainant was discharged on November 8, 2016. Respondent denies that non-black employees and those not known to have participated in a protected activity were treated better under similar circumstances. Respondent denies any causal nexus between the discharge and any alleged protected activity in which Complainant engaged.

Investigation Summary-Counts B and C:

A. Complainant's Evidence.

1. Complainant stated that on November 8, 2016, Chomentowska and Suzi Ohanessian ("Ohanessian") (non-black/no protected activity), CEO, were in Chicago and requested that she sign some arbitration paperwork. Complainant stated that after she signed the paperwork, she was called into a meeting with Chomentowska, Ohanessian, and Gamble, who was on the phone.
2. Complainant stated that in the meeting she was told that she was creating a hostile office, and she was being discharged. Complainant stated that she was told that staff were saying that she created a hostile work environment, and they did not want to work with her.
3. Complainant stated that she inferred that her discharge was due to an altercation on or about October 25, 2016, when she had to defend herself against an angry employee who was attacking her. Complainant stated that in the meeting she started that she was defending herself and she explained that the employee had attacked her, and she had to hold her against the wall until someone separated them. Complainant stated that she explained that she told office staff to call the authorities because the employee was attacking her.
4. Complainant stated that Chomentowska, Ohanessian, and Gamble said that she was discharged. Complainant stated that it seemed strange that she was discharged two weeks after the altercation especially because when she reported the incident to Chomentowska she said "I wish I could have seen that fight". (Exhibit D) is a Notice to Employee as to Change in Relationship Separation Report dated November 8, 2016, indicating that Complainant was discharged for violence and creating a hostile work environment.
5. Complainant stated that Marr called her a black nigger bitch, and she was not discharged. Complainant stated that Marr is white and was treated better.
6. Complainant stated that after she reported Marr's comment to Gamble on October 31, 2016, she texted Gamble asking what she was going to do about Marr. Complainant stated that she thinks the discharge was retaliation for reporting Marr's comment. Complainant did not provide the referenced text message to the Department during the investigation.
7. Confidential Witness A ("CWA") stated that they do not think the discharge was due to the altercation with the employee since it was so long between the incident and the discharge. The individual stated that management had joked about the altercation until a video of it was sent to headquarters. The witness stated that they feel Respondent used the altercation between Complainant and the angry employee as a way to get rid of her because that employee was a huge problem and Complainant did not do anything wrong. The witness stated that they heard the altercation and the angry employee was aggressive.

8. CWA stated that Chomentowska, Ohanessian, and Gamble listened to Marr and the people Marr hired in who were her friends. The witness stated that they were against Complainant who really was trying to do a good job. The individual stated that it was a hostile work environment at Respondent but not because of Complainant.
9. CWA stated that most of the employees at Respondent who were discharged were black or Hispanic but there were very few white employees.
10. CWA stated that Nick (non-black/no protected activity), Administrator, took over Complainant's human resources responsibilities.

B. Respondent's Evidence.

1. Gamble stated that Respondent has a "zero -tolerance for violence" in the workplace. (Exhibit E) is Respondent's Abuse/Violence policy which indicates that violent acts and incidents are expressly prohibited and employees are to help prevent violence, and any violent act by an employee will result in immediate discipline and/or discharge.
2. Gamble stated that the decision to discharge Complainant was made by her, Chomentowska, and Ohanessian. Gamble stated that Complainant was not discharged because of her race or in retaliation for reporting racial harassment. Gamble stated that discharge decisions are made regardless of race. Gamble stated that Complainant never reported racial harassment or said that Marr called her a "black nigger bitch," as Complainant alleges. Gamble stated that Complainant was discharged because of Respondent's zero-tolerance for violence policy. (Exhibit F) is Respondent's copy of Complainant's discharge document dated November 8, 2016.

4. Gamble stated that Complainant was supposed to prevent workplace violence, but she initiated it. Gamble stated that she is black and Complainant's discharge had nothing to do with her race being black. Gamble stated that she does not recall any texts about racial harassment or discrimination of any kind.
5. Gamble stated that Complainant was not replaced, and her duties were covered by the existing employees.
6. Gamble stated that Complainant had performance issues, but the discharge was due to her behavior with the driver. Gamble stated that Complainant had attendance issues such as tardiness and not being in the office. Gamble stated that one time she could not reach Complainant, and later Complainant told her that she was at a hair appointment. Gamble stated that employees complained about Complainant indicating that she had told them that she was the "head bitch" and could terminate them at any time. Gamble stated that on October 1, 2016, Complainant threatened staff in an email (Exhibit F) with discipline if they reported complaints to executive management:

"Hello team if there is a problem in the office let me know about it. Do not bother Jowita or Suzy, they are busy setting up the Texas office. Going over my head with an issue that I am not aware of or that we had already solve [sic] is called insubordination. I will write up staff for [no further text or text is cut off]."
7. Gamble stated that staff in Complainant's office complained that she was often gone and would say that she was looking for parking lots for drivers, but this was not part of Complainant's job. Gamble stated that there had been conversations with Complainant about her performance, and she would say that she would change but never did. (Exhibit G) is an email from Marr to Chomentowska dated October 30, 2016, in which she complains about various aspects of Complainant's management, including Complainant's involvement in the altercation, during which she proclaimed, "I'm from the south side, bitch!" intimidating staff who heard the remark and Complainant spending little time in the office.
8. Chomentowska stated that Complainant had performance problems, but the discharge was due to the violence during the altercation in which the police had to be called and there was hair on the floor and blood on the wall. Chomentowska stated that Complainant's position with the company required her to respond to all situations in a professional manner. Chomentowska stated that Complainant's discharge had nothing to do with her race, and she never complained about discrimination; thus, the discharge was not retaliation since there was no knowledge of any alleged discrimination complaint.
9. Ohanessian stated that Complainant's discharge was a result of Respondent's zero-tolerance policy for violence in the workplace. Ohanessian stated that this was a situation of an automatic discharge for violence which had nothing to do with race or retaliation.

10. Ohanessian stated that Respondent has discharged others, and always without regard to race or any other protected characteristic. Ohanessian stated that she does not recall a discharge similar to that of Complainant – a violence related discharge. Ohanessian stated that Paul Vaccaro (non-black/no protected activity) and Isamar Fiscal (non-black/no protected activity) were discharged by Chomentowska for performance issues, though neither held the same job title as Complainant. (Exhibit H) is an Employee Separation Report for Vaccaro dated August 10, 2016. (Exhibit I) is a Notice to Employee as to Change in Relationship Separation Report for Fiscal dated September 20, 2016.

C. Complainant's Rebuttal.

1. Complainant stated that other employees told her that Marr had been complaining about her all the time in emails. Complainant stated that she had also said that people were not getting raises which made them not like her. Complainant stated that her discharge was not because of the altercation with the driver, but it was about what was happening in the office which was the reason that she was hired.
2. Complainant stated that she did not say the things alleged. Complainant stated that she never yelled that she was from the south side as she is not from the south side. Complainant stated that she did not say anything about a gang as she has nothing to do with any gang. Complainant stated that this is made up.

Analysis:

The investigation did not reveal that Complainant was discharged because of her race or in retaliation for participating in a protected activity. The investigation did not reveal that any similarly situated non-black employee, or employee who engaged in a protected activity was treated more favorably under similar circumstances. The investigation did not reveal a causal nexus between the discharge and Complainant's stated protected activity or activities. Respondent's Abuse/Violence policy indicates that violent acts and incidents are expressly prohibited and employees are to help prevent violence, and any violent act by an employee will result in immediate discipline and/or discharge. Respondent's articulated legitimate non-discriminatory reason for Complainant's discharge is that she created a hostile work environment in part on account of her engagement in the violent altercation. The evidence shows that Respondent decided that Complainant violated its zero-tolerance for violence policy and discharged her. Complainant was unable to identify a similarly situated non-black employee, or employee who was known to have engaged in a protected activity, who was treated more favorably under similar circumstances. There is no evidence that Respondent had a race-based animus when it discharged Complainant. Further, there is no evidence that Complainant reported racial harassment as alleged in her charge. Even if Complainant reported the comment made by Marr, there is no evidence to show that her discharge was retaliation for participating in a protected activity. Timing alone does not support a reasonable inference of retaliation and the evidence is such that Respondent had an array of legitimate concerns regarding Complainant's overall job performance and conduct.

Findings and Conclusion-Counts B and C:

A finding of Lack of substantial evidence is recommended because:

The evidence shows that Respondent discharged Complainant on the heels of an incident in which Complainant participated in workplace violence, thereby acting in a manner deemed by Respondent to be unbecoming of her position, as well as other performance or conduct related concerns that were at hand. Respondent's action was consistent with its established policies or practices. Respondent's workforce continued to consist of significant numbers of employees within Complainant's named protected category of race, black. Respondent has discharged non-black personnel and personnel not known or alleged to have engaged in a protected activity. While Complainant's alleged protected activity (denied by Respondent) occurred within a short period preceding the discharge there is no evident nexus between the discharge decision and the alleged protected activity; an employee who engages in a protected activity is not immune from the same standards of conduct and work performance as any other employee. There is no evidence of a race-based or retaliatory-based animus. There is no substantial evidence that Respondent discharged Complainant because of her race or in retaliation for her stated protected activity.

Findings – Counts A-D:

Complainant filed the instant charge on January 11, 2017, alleging that on October 31, 2016, Respondent subjected her to harassment and unequal terms and conditions of employment based on her race, black, and that on November 8, 2016, Respondent discharged her based on her race black, and in retaliation for opposing unlawful discrimination.

Respondent contends that Complainant was not an employee of Respondent's, and that Complainant worked for Respondent's subsidiary Scoobeez, Inc. Group Exhibit B is Complainant's paystubs dated from September 1, 2016, through November 15, 2016, which indicate that Complainant was at all times paid by Scoobeez, Inc.

Complainant indicated that she was employed by Scoobeez, Inc., that her supervisors were employed by Scoobeez, Inc., and that she at no time informed that she worked for or was otherwise an employee of Respondent as named. Exhibit C is Complainant's Form W-2 Wage and Tax Statement 2016, which shows Complainant's employer as Avitus Inc. Complainant stated that Avitus Inc. is a third party administrator hired by Scoobeez, Inc. to process payroll.

Respondent's September 30, 2016, Securities Disclosure form Exhibit D indicates that addresses of Respondent's Principal Executive Offices includes Scoobeez Headquarters located in Pasadena, California; with a profile of Scoobeez Exhibit E describing the company as a door to door messenger service utilizing scooters, motorcycles and cars for delivery; and indicates that Respondent is involved in guiding the development and increasing efficiency in Scoobeez' continuing expansion across the country.

Section 2-101(A)(1)(a) of the Illinois Human Rights Act defines an employee as an individual who performs services for remuneration within the State for an employer. The evidence shows that Complainant was an employee of Scoobeez, Inc. and not of Respondent; therefore, a finding of lack of jurisdiction is recommended for the Department.

A finding of lack of jurisdiction is also recommended for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission for the same reasons.

Additionally, Complainant, through her attorney, filed an identical charge of discrimination (IDHR Charge Number 2017CF1417) Exhibit F with the Department on December 19, 2016, citing Respondent as "Scoobeez, Inc." with the allegations contained within being investigated against what evidence demonstrates to be Complainant's appropriately identified employer.
